WASHINGTON, Nov. S .- Unprecedent-

day.
Wheat, with a production of almost one-fourth of the entire world's output this year, has established a record never before reached by that crop in any na-tion. The American harvest this year evceeds the previous record production of wheat in this country by more than 110,000,000 busnels. The nation's corn crop this year was prices paid farmers November 1, it is worth nearly two hillion dollars $1,913.-025.000, in exact figures. In size it is second only to the record crop of 1912. The production was 3,090,503,000 bushels. or 34,000,000 less than the country's previous

With higher prices being paid to farmfirs because of European war influence, the nation's crops this year undoubtedly will be the most valuable ever grown, notwithstanding the heavy production which ordizarily would have the effect

The preliminary estimate of composition is 3,024,060,060 bushels. This is arout shown, now bushels more than forcest in the October I report, and reflects generally the revorable character of the month of October in maturing the crop. The estimate of production is rearly 16 per cent larger than has tyear's trop and 14 per cent larger than the average yearly production of the preseding five years. In only one other year has the estimate of corn production exceed 3,040,060,060 namely in 1912, when it reached about $35,060,060 more than this year's crop estimate.

shown that the methods sought to be employed by Great Britain to obtain and use evidence of enemy destina-tion of parges bound for percent ports and to impose a contraband character upon such cargoes are without justification; that the blockade, upon which such methods are partly founded, is ineffective, filegal and indefensible: that the judicial procedure offered as a means of reparation for an international injury is inherently defective for the purpose; and that in many cases jurisdiction is asserted in violation of the law of nations. The United States, therefore, can not submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights by these measures, which are admittedly retaliatory and therefore illegal, in con-ception and in natura, and intended to punish the enemies of Great Britaln for alleged illegalities on their part. The United States might not be in a position to object to them if its interests and the interests of all neutrals were unaffected by them. but, being affected, it can not with complacence suffer further subordination of its rights and interests to the plea that the exceptional geo-graphic position of the enemies of Great Britain require or justify oppressive and illegal practices.

NOT MERE EXPEDIENCY. The government of the United States desires, therefore, to impress most earnestly upon His Majestv's government that it must insigt that the relations between it and His Majesty's government be governed, not by a policy of expediency, but by those established rules of international conduct upon which Great Britain in the past has held the United States to account when the latter nation was a beligerent engaged in a struggle for national ex-istence. The question has been one of "evidence to support the belief of—in many cases a bare suspicion of enemy destination or occasionally of enemy origin of the goods involved." (3) Attention is directed with regard to search of neutral vessels at ses to the instructions issued to the naval commanders of the United States, Great Britain, Russia, Japan, Spain. Germany and France from 1888 to the beginning of the present war to show "that search in port was not contemplated by the govern-ment of any of these countries."

(4) An examination of the opinion of the most eminent text writers on the laws of nations shows "that they give practically no consideration to the question of search in port outside of examination in the regular course of prize court proceedings."

ANSWER TO CLAIM. (5) Answering the assertion Great Britain that the position of the United States in relation of search at sea is inconsistent with its practice during the civil war, the note says this is based upon a "misconception." A careful search of the records "shows conclusively that there were no instances when vessels were brought into port for search prior to instituting prize court pro-ceedings," and that captures were not made upon other grounds than evidence found on the ship under investigation and not upon circum-stances ascertained from external sources." It is here that Secretary Lansing appends a copy of the in-structions issued to American naval officers on August 18, 1862. (6) In answer to the British contention that conditions relating to the size and seaworthiness of modern carriers justify bringing vessels into port, there is cited the report of a board of United States naval experts, just made, in which it is declared, that it is not necessary to remove "every package of a ship's cargo" to establish the character and nature of her trade, that the facilities for boarding and inspection of modern ships are, in fact, greater than in former times, and that to permit be a direct aid to the belligerents concerned in that it would release a helligerent vessel overhauling the neutral from its duty of search and set it free for further belligerent operations.'

Moraght "Defines" Asquith Surprises

By Associated Press. BERLIN, Nov. 8 .- The statement of Premier Asquith in his recent speech in the House of Commons that the war had brought surprises to all, elicited today the following comment from Major Moraght, the military critic:

"The 'surprises' were the German advance in Russia, the failure of the Franco-British attack against the German west front, the great and swift successes of the Austrians, Ger-Franco-British attack against the German west front, the great and swift successes of the Austrians, Germans. Loan to Panama Is Reported Approved

Br Associated Press.
PANAMA, Nov. S.—According to authoritative information, Secretary of State Lansing has approved the new loan of $1,250,000 which the Panama National Assembly authorized at a recent session, in order to rehabilitate the finances of the country.

In view of the country's increased financial difficulties, the United States, it is said here, is making an effort to force Panama to agree to the appointment of a financial adviser with sufficient power to make recommendations operative. The new loan will bring the national debt up to $3,500,000 while tariff and internal revenues have decreased fully 50 per cent within eighteen months,

To End Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it 14 pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrial deafness, or head noises, should give this prescription a trial.

THE DELAYED PROTEST.

that of Great Britain, protesting against the sainness trais, should have been made months ago. While the beneficial to all. alleged illegal acts of Great Britain have not resulted in the loss of life of our citizens, they have caused curtailed, in some cases completely taken away, the clear rights of our citizens to free intercourse on the high seas and with neutral peoples. It is well that our government has tried calmly and in good-temper to safeguard our rights under international law and practice throughout a period of fifteen months. Yet the State Department might easily have dispatched its protest months ago. There was sufficient and flagrant violation of the law and rights of neutrals to warrant as emphatic procedure as was followed in the case of the negotiations with Germany over the submarine attacks. on passenger steamers. The difference of procedure in the two cases leave a suspicion that the administration is paying as much attention to public sentiment as it is to preserving the nation's interests under international law.

Unfortunately our grievances have been cumulative. They have progressed beyond injuries to cotton and meat men and shipowners and now involve the integrity of the rights of nations, for which the United States is the self-chosen and most consistent champion. Secretary Lansing has stated the case succinctly when he says the United States cannot submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights by measures admittedly illegal in conception and nature.

. In the note of protest hundreds of acts are complained of, but they all fall under a few classifications-Great Britain has attempted to apply municipal law to the person and properties of citizens of other nations on the high seas and in non-British territory. She has arbitrarily seized vessels and held them and their cargoc while searching elsewhere for evidence of unacter upon cargoes which she claimed was for enemy destination upon evidence obtained by her own officials. The Government of the United States claims all these political interests in the course of the war.

Mr. Lansing's note is a masterly resume of American national ideals and rights and an exposition of our traditional aspirations to live only as a member of the family of great nations, to see those members held together under inviolable law, to want no more than it is willing to give, to protect the weak and helpless, and to protest vigorously every unjust and arbitrary curtailment of peaceful, lawful privileges and to force adherence to our doctrine that the rights of peaceful nations are superior to the military necessities of bel-

The insistence "that the relations between this government and His Majesty's government be governed, not by a policy of expediency, but by those established rules of international conduct upon which in the past Great Britain has held the United States to account. seems to be justified under all the circumstances.

The common sense of the two nations is a sufficient safeguard against an open rupture of their relations. We believe Great Britain will answer this note in a friendly spirit, as did Germany in a very similar matter, and revise her conduct of the past year to make it conform to that international code of which she herself in the past has been an ardent champion and one of the most effective workers in building up. The justice of America's stand cannot be gainsaid and will have the support of every neutral power. Mr. Lansing's note promises to become one of the most important documents of international practice.

Didn't Know Law as to Age, Says Prisoner

Unfortunately for Joseph Hummel, 1251 Addison street, Berkeley, when he cloped to San Jose Saturday and married Miss Minnie Atwood, of 2315 Spaulding avenue, he did not preface his amorous journey with a close scrutiny of the law as to mar-riage. The bride is but 16 years of age and had not the consent of her guardians, and as a result Hummel had to appear in Police Judge Edgar's court in Berkeley this morning to answer to the charge of contributing to the delinquency of a mmor.

He declares he was ignorant of that clause in the law which makes it necessary for a girl under age to have the consent of parent or guardian to her mar-riage. In evidence of his good faith he submitted a marriage license duly sworn and recorded to show that he and the girl were man and wife. Temporarily, at least, Mrs. Hummel is in the custody of her relatives.

put of the Indianhead powder factory contracts for private manufacture of smokeless powder have been greatly reduced and at the present there is only one contract outstanding amount-ing to 730,000 pounds with the Carnet's Point plant of the Dupont company. The facilities for the production of smokeless powder and other explosives in the United States have been enormously increased, owing to the demands of the belligerents for these materials. It has taken many months of time and enormous expenditures of money to develop these facilities, and their conserva-tion for the benefit of the United States Government in time of war is a problem which will require the most careful consideration of the department when the European war

Biplane Student Is Buried in Mud

Young Aviator Escapes Death in Fall

ALAMEDA, Nov. 8. - The space of a few feet saved the life of Harold B. Smith, boy aviator, when he plunged through the air yesterday in his biplane and landed in the soft marsh land. Had Smith's ma-chine struck five feet away, he would have been dashed to death. As it was, his escape is regarded as miraculous. Smith, who is a student in the Christofferson school of aviation on the Alameda marsh land west of Webster street roadway, was in the air 1000 feet when his en-gine went wrong. He dropped for 500 feet, frantically endeav-oring to regain control of his biplane. His efforts were in vain, and the machine fluttered to the ground, sinking deep in the mud and shattering the various parts. Smith was imbedded in the mud with his biplane and was dug out by Elmer W. Baker and H. Lally, two other stuents. He was taken to the Oakland receiving hospital, where it was found that he had sustained contusions and incerations about the head and body and had suffered the loss of four teeth. The ma-

Second, there will be more men in the rooting section and less "queening." Tom Sharkey Didn't Go With Blacksmiths

Unwarranted Decision Over 'Ruby Bob' Almost Killed Sailor's Stage Ambition

(By MR. MULDOON.)

In telling his life's history to that young lady who writes it so beautifully for a San Francisco evening paper, I hope Colonel Tom Snarkey will not fail to mention the first star engagement that he ever played away from home and which I had the pleasure of arranging for him. It was just after Sharkey had had his famous battle with Bob Fitzsimmons

Wyait Erap, a western sheriif refereed that fight and while it was going wiong beautifully for "Ruby" Robert he gave a decision in favor of Sharkey whose seconds had entered a claim of foul.

It was an awful decision and it created a sensation from one end of the country to the other. It made Shorkey famous in a night for when all this happened-December, 1896-Fuzsimmon, was at the zenith of his fame as a pugifist

The country had not gotten through talking about the fiasco when I received a telegram at St. Louis from "Parson" Davies of Chicago who was then known as the "Impresario of the Prize Ring." This telegram said:

"Lynch, a friend of mine, is going to bring Sharkey east on a starring "Lynch, a friend of mine, is going to bring Sharkey east on a starring the same time. tour. Arrange for a week's stay for him at St. Louis and at the same time get some good big boxer to go on with him."

Jake Holman, afterwards famous as a race track starter, was at the time the champion heavy weight boxer of Missouri. I asked him if he would spar with Sharkey in a series of performances in St. Louis, and he accepted the Then I secured the Standard theater as the place in which to give the

It was a summer time and the Standard, known as the home of "Two Frolics Dally," was lying idle. It was owned by Ed Butler, then the Democratic boss of St. Louis, and it TWO was largely patronized by "Butler Indians."

These "Butler Indians" lived at a time when fists were trumps in politics and a great many of them were horseshoers working in the big chain of shops which Butler then owned.

shops which Butter then owned.

They were all members of the National Horseshoars' Association of America, of which Fitzsimmons was then and is now a member.

Naturally when the announcement was made that Sharkey, the man who had "robbed" Fitzsimmons of a fight, was to appear in the "Home of Two Frolics Daily" there was commotion and indignation all along the line.

The horseshoers met and passed resolutions requesting Butler to cancel his lease with the Sharkey managers. Butler, a thoroughbred and man of his word, gave his callers

So when Sharkey and Hollman came out on the Standard stage "Like two prize fighters at a fair,

Who first shake hands before they box, Then give each other friendly knocks,

With all the love and kindness of a brother."

there were men in that vast assemblage who were ready to commit hari-karl if necessary to show their contempt for the sellor and stop the fight. The circus commenced when one brawny smith from Kerry Patch, the home of the Irish in St. Louis, shouted: "Hit the ship on his breast, Jake, and break his back."

"Borrow a hammer from the boss," shouted another, "and bate out his "He's a bloody far down," howled a third. "Hit him on the glass law, Jake, and break it."

sharkey stood and watched the mad men as they shouted and didn't know just what to make of it all. He might have quit then and there, but that the old boss happening in the wings shouted to him:
"Tell them all to go to h---. And tell them you're a Kerry man your-

That was Sharkey's cue: "I'm 1 Kerry man myself," yelled Sharkey back at the mob. "Did yez ever see a Kerry man run?"

"Never," shouted a hundred Kerry men in unison.
"Did yez ever see a Kerry man fight any way but fair?"

"Divil a wanst." "Well, then, that's how I fought wid Fitz and that's why I'm here."

In a moment bedlam was turned loose. Sharkey's speech had won over the opposition and Kerry men and all joined in cheers for the conqueror It was the quick wit and skill of the old boss blacksmith that had turned

Needless to say that Sharkey's first engagement away from home turned out a big winner. It consisted of seven night performances and two matinees and at each show the big house was packed to the doors. I could tell many stories of Sharkey's first visit as a professional bexer

I know of one home he visited in St. Louis at that time, of two little children he fell in love with, and to whom he gave beautiful souvenirs which they cherish to this day.

The rain was falling in hogsheads as Hopkins and I pushed our way through a surging crowd into the Coney Island Clubhouse. Never perhaps before or since has there ever been a crowd to compare with the one that assembled that night to see Sharkey and Jerries fight for the world's cham-

The building, an immense one, was packed to the doors. In this gathering were millionaires and men of affairs from all parts of the world. All the great sporting writers of America had assembled with the rest. There was every incentive there for each fighter to put his best foot forward and to do his level best.

Before the fight the moving picture men had placed their cameras directly over the ring and the heat from their rays was like that which comes from a burning sun on a July day in the southland. The windows of the clubhouse had all been neiled down to guard against interlopers. There was only one doorway to the place and it was always crowded. The heat from the motion picture rays was so offensive, especially to those near the ringside, that it looked as though the place might catch

"If she catches on fire, how many of us do you suppose will get out of this frame shack?" I saked of Hopkins.

"About seven, if they are very lucky," he responded, and that about covered the situation.

When George Siler, the referee, asked Jeffries to stand up and shake hands with Sharkey it looked like a giant shaking hands with a school boy.

The difference in the size of the two men appeared remarkable.

Two years before I had seen Sharkey spar like a novice. Now as he faced Jeffries he carried himself with all the ease and grace of an accom-

He had long before this fight been associated with Tom O'Rourke and under the latter's teaching had learned all the fine points of the game, having good sparring partners like Bob Armstrong and George Dixon, the latter showing him the real science of the ring and the tricks that had profited him in his long line of victories.

Sharkey never fought before or since as he fought that night. He put it all over Jeffries, as the saying is. Often and often the sailor landed right and left on his opponent without receiving a blow in return. He was as good if not better than Jeffries in every round. No fair-minded man there at the close of the twenty-fifth and last round but believed that the fight should have been declared a draw.

But to the surprise of all Referee Siler, after some hesitation, grasped

Jeffries' right hand and held it in the air, The crowd almost to a man hissed the decision and howled for Sharkey. Sharkey with a lemon in each hand which he had taken from a bucket of ice water shouled to Colonel Hopkins, who had seen all the big fights:

"What do you think of that?"

"The rottenest I ever heard in my life," shouted Hopkins back, and that's the way it looked to me and to nearly every one around me. The decision must have broken Sharkey's heart, for he never put up as good a fight afterwards.

With several sensational games, marked by professional speed and class, the Tribune Mid-winter Basebail League rounded into the second week yesterday. The six clubs in the class A division furnished three spectacular games, two contests in particular being of the hairnising order.

The game between the Ambrewors and the Southern raising order.

The game between the Ambrose Tallors and the Southern Pacific Store was the scene of the hottest pitcher's battle of the day, Speed Martin, for the Taliors, downing Ellison, the railroad boys' twirler, by a 1 to 0 score. It was nip and tuck for the full limit, with the taliors putting over the railroad by the scene over the railroad by the statement of the state putting over the winning run in the eighth inning. HOUSE OF NOGI NOT PERMITTED TO PERISH

Emperor Appoints 'Son;' Death Threats Are Uttered

By Associated Press. TOKIO, Nov. 8 .-- No subject has caused more of a clamor of public discussion in Japan in recert years than an impenal decree legally resuscitating the finals of the Mrs General Nogl. the tere of Port Arthur and the idea of the Japanese nation. A s'orm of protest has risen from all parts of the empire because the fact that General Nogi. who committee narrants with his wife on the night of the funeral of Emperor Mutsamto, left a will expressing his disapproval of the custom of adopting heirs in Japan and requesting that his furnity become extinct.

General Nogi's later life was saddened by the loss of his two sons in the war with Russia. He was constantly requested by relatives and friends to adopt an heir in fulfillment of Japanese custom and thus to continue the succession of his house. Nogi, however, refused, declaring that to his mind the practice of adoption had worked very badly and discredit to the family. He preferred that his own house, which had been given the rank of nobility by the Emperor, should become extinct after his

This desire was contained very explicitly in his last testament which he declared "the tombs of the family ancestors should be cared for by blood relations so long as any of them survive, and not by others."

He gave directions that his body should be contributed to a medical school for dissection. Under the belief that his wife would survive him, Count Nogi concluded his will with the words: The name of the House of Nogi will be retained during my wife's lifetime, and after that it is my earnest hope that my family will be extinguished."
The successor to Count Nort

's rot a blood relation. He is Motosata Mori vounger brother of Viscount Motoo Meri. An imperial decree ordering Mr. Mori to the e over the house of the late Gene i Nogi as well as the title of count was issued on the third anniversary of the suicide of the hero of Port Arthur. The fact that the new head of the house has already made application for the family relics and memomais has heightened public feeling on the matter. The new Count Nosi is receiving an end-less stream of anonymous letters, some threatening and all protesting his succeeding to the name of Nogi in defiance of the wish of the great soldier.

The question occupies the foremost place in the press, which quotes many jurists as holding the step illegal. It is likely that the question will come up in the next session of the Diet. The former head of the Mori house was a diamio of Choshu clan, of which the late Count Nogi was a member, and this is one reason why a man of the present generation was selected. The entire controversy is of especial interest because it shows that public opinion in Japan now dares to criticise even a decree of the Emperor In former days criticism of an imperial edict would have been regarded as entirely disloyal and im possible.
